

Web of Correspondence

OUP's Electronic Enlightenment is coming soon; the scheduled launch date is September of 2007. EE will offer access to the full critical editions of the letters of more than 3,800 writers including Addison, Bentham, Boswell, Defoe, Hobbes, Hume, Kant, Locke, Pope, Rousseau, Smith, Swift, Sterne and Voltaire. Consisting of over 75,000 letters from more than 60 critical editions, EE will also have links to the Dictionary of National Biography and the Encyclopedia of the Enlightenment. More information at <<http://www.oup.com/online/ee/>>, or contact services@nylink.org.

OUP Early Adopter Discounts

Do you feel lucky? Take a chance and sign up for any of OUP's upcoming databases before July 1, sight unseen,

Electronic Enlightenment (June)

<<http://www.oup.com/online/ee/>>

Oxford Language Dictionaries Online (August)

<<http://www.oup.com/online/oldo/>>

Encyclopedia of Popular Music Online (September)

<<http://www.oup.com/online/epm/>>

Oxford Islamic Studies Center (October)

<<http://www.oup.com/online/islam/>>

... and get an additional 10% off. Nylink can give tentative quotes (pricing is not completely finalized, though any changes are likely to be minimal) for all but the Oxford Language Dictionaries Online. Contact services@nylink.org for a quote or more information.

2007 BioOne Publishers and Partners Meeting Presentations Available for Download at BioOne Web Site

Some very interesting presentations are online at the BioOne website, <<http://www.bioone.org>>. See the BioOne News sidebar for links. Roger Schonfeld, Manager of Research at Ithaka, presented some preliminary findings from a Mellon-funded study on the impact of digitization on citation patterns. Ithaka <<http://www.ithaka.org/>> is an independent not-for-profit organization with a mission to accelerate the productive uses of information technologies for the benefit of higher education worldwide. There is also a very clear presentation from Jeffrey Shields, President of The Crustacean Society, on publishing a specialty journal.

The BioOne subscription cycle is getting ready to start; please contact Nylink Services for a quote: services@nylink.org.

Cooperative Services Contact Information

Please contact Tatiana Sahm (sahmt@nylink.org) or Jen Stelling (stellingj@nylink.org) at Nylink with your questions. They are available via email or phone (800-342-3353 / 518-443-5444).

OCLC FIRSTSEARCH NEWS

PSYCINFO 1887 – A New Name

The PsycINFO 1887 database on FirstSearch has a new name: PsycINFO. Z39.50 sites that use the entire database name must replace “PsycINFO_1887” with “PsycINFO” or “psi3.” Z39.50 sites that use the short name “psi3” for this database do not need to make any changes to their implementations. Libraries that use automatic logon capability to access FirstSearch either through IP-address recognition or the OCLC WebScript CGI application do not need to make any changes to their URLs or scripts. OCLC has created an alias for the database name.

OCLC FirstSearch: The Basics – A New Quick Reference Brochure

This 8-page quick reference brochure provides an overview of FirstSearch information for the new or experienced FirstSearch librarian to make effective use of the FirstSearch end-user interface, the FirstSearch Administrative Module and the OCLC Usage Statistics Web site.

OCLC FirstSearch: The Basics is available online in PDF at: <<http://www.oclc.org/support/documentation/firstsearch/using/basicsrefcard/FSbasics.pdf>>.

Open WorldCat/WorldCat.org – Article Citations Added

Article-level citation records from four FirstSearch databases – ArticleFirst, ERIC, GPO and Medline – have been added to OpenWorldCat/WorldCat.org.

To find these article citations, conduct a search at <<http://worldcat.org>>, then limit your search results under “Refine Your Search” by clicking “Article” under “Format.” IP-address information determines which libraries are displayed to end-users.

OpenWorldCat is the OCLC concept of increasing the visibility of WorldCat-member libraries by placing their WorldCat holdings on Google and Yahoo! so that they can be discovered via the Web. WorldCat.org is the destination Web site for searching for these holdings.

OCLC FirstSearch Contact Information

For more information about OCLC FirstSearch, please contact Nylink's Joyce Rambo (ramboj@nylink.org) or Jennifer Hawkes (hawkesj@nylink.org).

